Roosevelt and Labor

THE main results of the election of Roosevelt for a third term are:

1. A real and growing fear that America will be drawn into the European War by spring, as many Willkie spokesmen predicted.
2. A real and growing fear that Roosevelt will destroy the gains labor made in 8 years. Roosevelt is determined to "unify" labor by destroying the CIO.
3. A real and growing fear among minorities, especially among foreign-born; also among liberals, intellectuals, and more acutely among the more progressive, militant, left-wing labor and political organizations, that civil rights will be attacked, liberties trampled, and the old deal dealt again.
4. A real and growing fear among economists and business leaders that the war boom will follow the inevitable economic law and turn into the worst panic in world history.
5. An increased realization that the American press represents the interests of Big Business, not its readers, the American people.
6. Growing resentment over disfranchisement of 4,000,000 Negroes and 6,000,000 poor Whites in the South.
7. First stirring of a national third or Farmer-Labor Party movement representing the people and not the 3 or 200 Families who supply ten or twenty million dollars to the Republicans and Democrats each election.

The Roosevelt Road to War

Both candidates promised no entry into war. Willkie, who in July had been prevented by "powerful interests along the Atlantic seaboard—presumably the House of Morgan and great newspapers like the NYTimes and Herald Tribune" (Labor, Sept 17) from opposing Roosevelt's war plans, changed his tune and immediately registered a great upswing in the Gallup Poll (IN FACT Oct 21). This, however, was pure demagoguery, because Willkie had attended the Lamont dinner and promised not only more aid to the Allies than FDR pledged, but an expeditionary force (IN FACT July 15).

However, Willkie was "going great guns" in the Middle West (NYDNews, Oct 21) "for the simple reason the people are convinced that Willkie is less likely to get the nation into war than FDR".

Nov 1 Willkie was reported heading to win on a peace program. He was taking politicians' advice to cash in on the 85% American majority for peace; he was urged to make war and peace the main issue instead of the third term. Willkie, however, refused (Arthur Hale, WOR, Nov 1) to say no more ships, airplanes and guns for England, no involvement, no entanglements.

The American press generally says nothing about entry into war. Exceptional, iconoclastic papers do. NYDNews predicted U. S. entry after elections (IN FACT Nov 4). U. S. News says "War is closing in on U. S." (Oct 18). Kiplinger letters, Whaley-Eaton service, Wall Street publications, say America has been, or will be, led into war by FDR. Drafted men, who have nowhere expressed enthusiasm for conscription or war, are frightened. (To the foregoing facts, IN FACT adds editorially its staff believes the speed of American entry into war unaffected by election; that both candidates were war candidates; that only a tremendous peace movement can save America.)

Roosevelt's Revenge on the CIO

No ruler can take a nation into war unless he breaks a militant pro-peace labor movement. Progressive labor leaders, notably CIO heads, who announced their faith in Lewis without endorsing Willkie (because they believe Roosevelt betrayed labor in 1940) are prepared for a revengeful attack by the President. FDR, they say, is determined to create labor unity by destroying Lewis' best unions. (A Roman writer said of Caesar's legions: they make a desert and they call it peace.)

Lewis was convinced from his conversations with Roosevelt just before elections that the President did not intend the CIO to survive, except as a company union under the leadership of Sidney Hillman.

Both Candidates as "Democratic" Fascists

Members of the Progressive Committee to Rebuild the American Labor Party, whom Lewis addressed after his failure to obtain labor concessions from Roosevelt, say Lewis was convinced that either presidential candidate would

Ford's Anti-Semitism

HENRY Ford and his secretary E. R. Liebold were converted to anti-Semitism by Boris Brasol who was exposed years ago by Norman Hapgood as a Tsarist agent in America, an organizer of the terrorist Black Hundreds. Daniel O'C. Moran, who supplies IN FACT with 7 pages of documentation and bibliography, and others have sent confirmation.

In order to show how the American press attacked Ford at the time he sent the Peace Ship to Europe (when he did not advertise) and protects him now, when he employs anti-Semites, gangsters, spies, violates the Wagner Act (and advertises), IN FACT (Oct 21) said: "It was the American press which soured the idealist Ford, which turned him against Mme. Schwimmer, and which helped make an anti-Semite out of him". The intention here was to deny the myth of Ford turning anti-Semite because Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, a great humanitarian, had suggested the Peace Ship which the press killed by ridicule. Unfortunately several readers got the opposite impression. We repeat: Mme. Schwimmer had nothing to do with Ford's anti-Semitism. Ford was full of anti-Semitic bunk before meeting Mme. Schwimmer; he became an active anti-Semite 5 years later.

Ford, Wells, Mme. Schwimmer

H. G. WELLS declares the American press was under instructions from Big Business, the munitions trade, Morgan & Co. to ruin Ford's peace plans. Mme. Schwimmer sends IN FACT interesting documentation. Ford was anti-Semitic, she says, when she met him (Nov 17 1915). After talking rationally, he burst out: "I know who caused the war, the German-Jewish bankers." In 1923, after Ford had announced he had given up his anti-Jewish crusade, he wrote:

"... aboard the ship were representatives of the hidden power which knows more about the war today than anyone else. . . . Their business was to find out how much of their plans was known and to see that their interests were not materially injured by an inquiry into the forces behind the war. . . ."

"The people do not rule. The governments do not govern; the world until now has been ruled by a power in the background which is international. . . . This power is not occult. . . . This power is financial and political. . . . International Finance."

In 1919 Woodrow Wilson confessed the World War was a commercial war, for trade and profits (Speech, St. Louis, Sept 5). In 1934 the Nye-Vandenberg Committee concluded America was pushed into the war by the financial powers headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. (The NYTimes and other papers falsified Nye's conclusion; Nye reaffirmed findings in public speeches).

There is evidence of finance capital, munition makers, big business being responsible for war, no evidence of any nation, race, color or creed dominating the world's war makers. Marxians say bring about ordinary wartime fascism of the so-called "democratic" type of present-day England or Daladier-France.

The only difference, according to Lewis, was that Willkie's election would mean a 3-month breathing spell in which the CIO could cement its ranks. Three months of the current organizing boom in defense industries, particularly by the United Electrical union, SWOC in Bethlehem, UAW at Ford's, would have put the CIO in strong position to withstand fascism in America. Now CIO heads believe that Roosevelt will try to knock the unions out of the defense industries—and practically everything is defense nowadays.

FDR uses FBI Against Labor

Evidence of the fact the President is now planning to smash the progressive labor movement, is the secret activity of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the J. Edgar Hoover outfit which once devoted itself to kidnapers but later took on political affairs, and now is attacking labor.

A file of 5,000,000 persons, including practically all liberals, progressives, intellectuals, and non-conformists as well as radicals has been prepared. G-men appear at all strikes, attend all labor meetings they can get into, notably CIO meetings.

The activity of Roosevelt's FBI against labor is exposed by Estolvy E. Ward (Guild Reporter, organ of the newspaper union, Nov 1) who charges that General Intelligence Division, First World War hangover, disbanded in 1924 because of public indignation, has been revived. One of its jobs has been to fingerprint employes in war materials plants. Hoover claims his 4,800,000 fingerprint cards belong to "criminals" but actually the charges marked on many cards are "picketer" and "union agitator". In one instance, where Hoover charged reds with threatening to close down an airplane factory, Ward found it to be an American Federation of Labor (Local 751, Int. Ass'n of Machinists, Seattle) attempt to resist a wage cut.

Hoover claims most of his activity affecting labor is a search for war spies; but patriotic trade unionists who two years ago sent FBI documentary evidence of Nazi spy activities in California airplane plants, learned that no action has been taken.

The Roosevelt-Hillman Old Deal

Woodrow Wilson, Charles M. Schwab, U. S. Steel, Big Business, promised Gompers of the AFL "freedom and justice for labor", "end of conflict between capital and labor", "workingmen's cooperation in industry", "industrial democracy". Gompers went to Versailles, but after playing the game of politicians and business leaders, was completely betrayed by them in 1919.

The Roosevelt plan to smash the CIO involves the use of tactics tried out at Rochester, N. Y., convention when Hillman's Amalgamated men disfranchised National Maritime Union, Newspaper Guild, and split convention. (Guild Reporter, Oct 1.) The Roosevelt-Hillman deal, like the Wilson-Gompers deal, aims to outlaw militant unions.

At the Washington State CIO Council, Hillmanites Richard L. Francis and Wm. Dalrymple, regional directors, and national representative Adolph Germer learned that majority, mostly maritime and timber workers, opposed war resolutions. They refused to call the meeting to order. On the third day their credentials committee declared the meeting illegal; later, the executive committee majority was suspended and Francis, Dalrymple and Germer now rule as "receivers".

Strong arm tactics, Joe Cannon rule of procedure, denial of rights to rank-and-file majorities are expected at national CIO convention Nov 18 when Hillman will stage credentials fight and try to handle labor the way he dictates to Amalgamated.

Sidney Hillman the Appeaser

Hillman follows Gompers in the old deal policy of appeasement. The unions supporting Hillman are the undemocratic unions, the unions opposed are democratically run by rank and file. (There is no racketeering in the CIO). Hillman knows how to prevent his rank-and-file from ruling.

Soon after his appointment as labor representative on the National Defense Advisory Commission Hillman said labor had not given up its right to strike but "had merely abandoned the privilege of striking". This statement was denounced in liberal labor press, Hillman stopped his appeasement talk for a while.

When notable labor leaders including even Matthew Woll (once vice president of fascist National Civic Federation; Ralph M. Easley, self-styled "America's Redbaiter No. 1" and associate of Harry A. Jung, dealer in anti-Semitic forgeries, president) declared peacetime conscription a step toward fascism, Hillman alone endorsed it.

In picking the Labor Policy Advisory Committee (16 labor unions now "studying" award of defense contracts to Wagner Act violators) Hillman snubbed CIO United Electrical Radio & Machine Workers, red-baited them.

When Lewis finally insisted that the law against Wagner Act violators be enforced, Hillman gave Lewis the runaround. Three times Lewis got the Senate to pass Walsh-Healey Act amendments, but the House killed them. Mr. Roosevelt did not act. Lewis asked him for an executive order, but Roosevelt rebuked him.

capitalism is to blame. Ford realized this, but certain individuals perverted the facts in his mind.

According to Mme. Schwimmer, Ford is "a combination of Rockefeller and Barnum, with something of (T) Roosevelt and Edison". Men who influenced Ford, she says, are: Dean Marquis, pastor of Mrs. Ford's church, who, she was told, "fed Mr. Ford with 'facts proving' that the Jews caused the war", and Liebold, who was duped by Brasol.

Ford still employs W. J. Cameron, second leading anti-Semitic propagandist in America (next to Coughlin) and proves himself second leading native fascist (next to Girdler) in treatment of labor.

Mooney Keeps Nazi Medal

GENERAL Motors apparently is flooding the nation with a mimeographed defense of its overseas president James B. Mooney, liaison officer in U. S. defense program and holder of Hitler's swastika decoration given to "distinguished foreigners who have deserved well of the Reich," including Ford and Watson of Int. Business Machines.

However, Mooney is not returning the Nazi honor. He may not like it, now that he has been exposed, but he keeps it for purely financial reasons. He cannot break with Hitler; he still hopes to salvage the Opel auto plant which for years has been making war materials.

Knudsen, Mooney, General Motors stockholders made millions from Hitler's war preparations, and for dollar reasons do not denounce Hitler now, although America is arming to fight Hitler.

Correction: IN FACT (Oct 21) erred in saying Henry Paynter, an editor of PM, heard Westrick, Nazi agent, converse with Mooney, etc. The paragraph should have read: "Paynter heard Westrick say England ought to sue for peace, not fight Nazism. Two or three months later, Paynter says, the ideas Westrick propounded . . . appeared under Mooney's name in the Saturday Evening Post."

The La Follette Civil Liberties investigation showed that Knudsen-Mooney's GM spent $839,000 in 2½ years for espionage to smash labor movement—making it largest employer of stoolpigeons, finks, goons, in America. IN FACT thinks this is sufficient evidence of native Naziism.

Anti-Semitic Columnist

THOUSANDS of requests that Gen. Johnson quit writing columns are being addressed to Scripps-Howard papers. One hundred and four employes of D. Lisner & Co. asked Johnson's removal from NY World-Telegram. Johnson made anti-Semitic radio address implying Jews backed Roosevelt because Roosevelt was fighting Hitler. Fact is Willkie promised more anti-Hitler action than FDR; Jews divided their votes.

IN FACT (Sept 23) gave evidence of Roy Howard's press chain anti-Semitism. Readers who queried Lee B. Wood, executive editor, received general denials, but no denial of World-Telegram vicious frontpage anti-Semitism, July 3 issue.

IN FACT has now received following statement from Robert Terrall, newspaperman: "Howard and Wood don't like Jews; they don't want Jews on their paper; the few Jews on the Telegram are exhibited by Howard and Wood to prove they are not anti-Semitic. Lee Wood assumes that anyone he doesn't like is a Jew. He told the education editor, one of the paper's few Jews, not to hire any more Jews for the school page. Frank Farrell's series of articles on the Bund giving some attention to anti-Semitism, was suppressed. Kenneth Simpson told Wood's Albany man not to underestimate the currents of anti-Semitism, but the story didn't appear. Wood always yells, 'Lay off the Jewish stuff . . . we don't want any of their goddam circulation'."

Hearst Man Barred

TWO hundred newspapers reaching 8,000,000 readers carry Washington column by Paul Mallon, Hearst writer. Nov 8 Mallon was excluded from White House press conference "because of inaccuracies in his column."

Secretary Ickes relates that after his radio talk on "calumnists," snipers and guttersnipers, he had "an interesting exchange of letters with one of the most notorious calumnists of Washington, a man whose field is bounded on one side by irresponsibility and on the other by prevarication."

Press Manhandles Election News

FROM all parts of the nation volunteer contributors sent IN FACT samples of newspaper distortion, falsification of campaign news, violations of code of journalistic ethics.

In his speech in Boston Oct 16 Att'y Gen'l Jackson branded as enemies of American democracy the following:

Col. Lindbergh, Maj. Gen. Van Horn Moseley, Merwin K. Hart, H. W. Prentis Jr., the Saturday Evening Post and the League for Constitutional Government, Willkie supporters.

Moseley is the man picked by all the followers of Hitler, Mussolini and Franco in America to lead a Fascist march on Washington; Hart is the leading apologist for the well-known murderer, Franco; Prentis is president of the National Association of Manufacturers, accused by labor press of being labor's biggest enemy; the Saturday Evening Post consistently publishes anti-labor articles, never once a pro-labor or liberal article.

The Boston Post referred to "a weekly magazine", suppressed name of SEP. The N. Y. Times played up Ass't Sec'y Louis Johnson's speech, story and full text, buried 7 paragraphs of Jackson's, suppressed all names but Lindbergh's. On the other hand the ultra-Republican Herald Tribune ran complete story with all names.

New York Sun as usual suppressed story criticizing Republican heroes, Fascists and advertisers. Sun, however, played story "Barton Assails Acts of Jackson." New York's Post and World-Telegram suppressed all names but Lindbergh's. Chi Tribune suppressed.

News from Greece

ALTHOUGH IN FACT is 100% anti-fascist, believes Mussolini is the world's second enemy (next to Hitler), it must warn newspaper readers that wish-fulfillment buncombe about the Greco-Italian war is being published, with editorial viewpoint coloring news and headlines. Newspapermen who know tricks of trade say there is practically no proof of frontpaged daily Greek victories.

Entire American press omits fact Metaxas of Greece is absolute fascist dictator, suppressor of labor unions, anti-

Lewis then asked NDAC to declare its policy not to give law violators contracts. Aug 31 it issued "assurances"; Sept 12 Roosevelt added assurances; Sept 13 Hillman added.

Labor Double-Crossed As Usual

John L. Lewis saw a great day for labor in the enforcement of the law against government contracts to law violators. If Bethlehem Steel, Weirton, Republic (now officially found guilty of the Memorial Day massacre) and Ford wanted part of the $16 billion program they could give up their bitter, frequently bloody fight against labor. Attorney General Jackson then published his opinion upholding union labor's contentions.

That put the financial fat in the journalistic fire. The big money newspapers leaped to the side of the enemies of labor and violators of the law. The New York Times, guilty of violating the labor laws, arrogantly publishing its refusal to obey the law, came out with "Congress Action Threatened to Void Jackson Ruling". It editorialized: "Angry criticism of the ruling . . . 'sabotage of the defense program'" etc. Jackson surrendered his sword to the Times, said his ruling did not mean what it said.

Hillman before the Smith Committee said "I have to agree with whatever their (NDAC) opinion is . . ." A week earlier he had said, "From this time no contracts will be awarded to any firms which violate Federal labor laws." He now testified, "management has cooperated with me. I have no complaint . . ." Mr. Lewis has.

To the Herald Tribune Forum Hillman said the basic part of the labor division task is averting strikes. Hillman does it in this way: he got Aluminum Workers to accept 2c wage increase when they threatened a strike unless 10c was granted. Aluminum Corp. is a monopoly but it won't be prosecuted for that; its profits are enormous.

Boeing, Seattle, also making enormous profits, tried a wage cut. Hillman phoned the AFL machinists a strike would create unfavorable public opinion. (The press makes public opinion; the press is historically anti-labor). While Hillman stands by with his public opinion shotgun, Boeing fires 400 union men and threatens to fire 1,600 more (out of total of 7,500) although it has $145 million plane orders and a U. S. subsidy for plant extension.

Labor's Gains of Years May Be Lost

Day following election, PM, one of the five (or six) newspapers in America not anti-labor, reported the drive to lengthen the work week will now be intensified, that all labor's gains won after years of agitation and pressure may be lost in a few days.

The Wagner Act is in danger. "The old drive to emasculate it did not succeed. The new drive comes armed with a potent weapon of destruction—national defense." The Indiana Chamber of Commerce—the United States and various state chambers of commerce are the strongholds of native fascism—has issued a pamphlet calling the Wagner Act "the greatest tool of subversive agents"; it declares the Act is a worse fifth columnist than those who blow up factories. PM does not believe Roosevelt will openly and violently suppress the labor movement but "it may be seduced into surrendering its independence. That has happened in other countries in periods of national emergency. It began to happen here before the election." It then relates the activities of Sidney Hillman, the man who surrenders.

Leo Huberman, labor editor, concludes his report of facts with an editorial appeal for labor to fight for higher living and labor standards, to beware an effort to create a suppressed docile unified labor movement; "this can be achieved only if labor movement is aware of the dangers, and, unified or not, maintains its militancy" (PM Nov 6).

Farmer-Labor Party Movement

Lewis came out for Willkie because when Roosevelt doublecrossed labor he, Lewis, did not have time to organize a labor party. Only in New York state did such a party exist, and it held the balance of power.

Today the farmer-labor party idea is appearing in the labor press. Vice-President Fehlhaber, Ohio CIO Council, backing Lewis, stated: "Our job now is to continue to organize the unorganized and lay foundations for a third party."

Morris Watson, chairman, and Eugene Connolly, organization director Progressive Com. American Labor Party, declare "the Democratic and Republican parties have coalesced their programs with one resulting program that means war and devastation of the rights and liberties of the people."

When Alfred K. Stern, ALP representative, urged new national party at Chicago peace mobilization, response was tremendous.

Lewis is in a position now to capitalize on the nation's disillusionment with both parties and overwhelming desire for peace. Lewis needs most of all a string of daily newspapers from New York to San Francisco which will inform readers instead of betraying them.

The Negro Vote

When Steve Early, Roosevelt's press secretary, kicked a Negro policeman in the groin a few days before election, it became an issue in the Willkie press.

The Roosevelt press ignored it. The Post, one of two Roosevelt papers in New York, had a tiny Washington dispatch, last page, headed "Early Shoved by City's Cops", which did not mention fact the policeman was a Negro. But Willkie World-Telegram, page 1, said, "Early, Roosevelt Aid, Kicks Negro Cop." The next day the Post didn't run anything.

In one of the few realistic speeches of the campaign, John W. Hanes, once undersecretary of treasury, said, "Who has been responsible, under New Deal legislation, for the discrimination against colored home-owners getting mortgage money? Who has been responsible for barring domestic, agricultural, and casual workers from the benefits of national Social Security? Four-fifths of the colored workers throughout this country are thus barred. Who was responsible for sharecroppers and tenant-farmers being barred from reduced crop benefits and bounties? Who was silent while his party was filibustering the anti-lynching bills to death? Who gave the orders setting up the Jim Crow Army about two weeks ago?"

The answer to these questions, which Mr. Hanes didn't give, was: Republicans and Democrats both.

Aid to Britain

All papers agree that first thing on post-election agenda is more aid to Britain. From our Canadian correspondent comes this story, now confirmed by the weekly bulletin of the American Peace Mobilization:

Last summer, just after the establishment of the Canadian-U. S. Joint Defense Council, the Canadian Naval Minister gave the first press conference in his career. He carelessly remarked "off-the-record" that the deal for 50 destroyers from America had just gone through and Roosevelt was only awaiting the propitious political moment to announce it. The UP wired the story to New York but Canadian censorship killed it, for Roosevelt at his press conference had just said that no destroyer deal was contemplated.

Who Won the Election?

Headline, Nov 6: STOCKS FALL 1 TO 5 (on news Wall Street's barefoot boy utility tycoon would not rule America).

Headline, Nov 7: STOCKS GAIN 2 TO 8 (on news of tremendous war orders and possibility increased national debt).

Who Bought the Election?

Republican and Democratic experts say that while officially the limited $3,000,000 election fund will be reported, it is certain that the 1936 alltime high of $24,000,000 will be beaten. NYDNews estimates Willkie financiers spent $15,000,000; PM says Wall Street candidate spent a minimum of $30,000,000, maybe $50,000,000. When government announces party subsidizers, list won't be frontpaged.

Buzz Windrip Defeated

A Dartmouth professor writes: "Do you suppose this guy Willkie consciously modeled himself on Buzz Windrip (the fascist dictator in Sinclair ["Red"] Lewis's "It Can't Happen Here") or is it just another case of Red's clairvoyance?"

Semite, enemy of Democracy. Metaxas was 100% pro-Hitler when Mussolini attacked, may still be. (This is another instance where innocent civilians, betrayed soldiers, will die by thousands, fighting for the like crew of fascist leaders).

Anti-Fascist Heroes

THE great heroes of the anti-Fascist International Brigade are starving in French concentration camps; they face death from French and German fascism; they offered to fight for Daladier-France and were refused; they are being left to die by Mr. Roosevelt and other American self-styled anti-fascists. IN FACT urges real anti-fascists to contribute to United American Spanish Aid Com., 200 Fifth Ave., NYC, which is buying a ship with which to save thousands of lives.

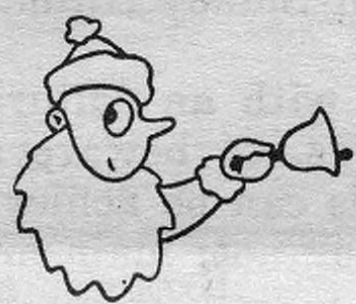

Press Exposé: Next Issue

WHEN Democratic Chairman Flynn charged the American press was a dictatorship "by financial interests and big advertisers" IN FACT Oct. 21 sent 1,500 word summary of documentation. Government evidence, confessions by editors and publishers were noted. Although press challenged Flynn for evidence, he did not use any after his first quotation from Times owner Sulzberger. IN FACT next week will print what Democrats were afraid to publish.

"Witch Hunt"

TWO hundred and 95 of the 300 leading American newspapers which received two latest books by IN FACT's editor, George Seldes, failed to review them; some refused advertising. IN FACT does not know whether same conspiracy of silence will be maintained against "Witch Hunt," which deals with the great red-baiting witch hunt now going on, wartime hysteria, dollar patriots, and exposes profiteers in this foul big business. A year's subscription to IN FACT will be given free to those who buy "Witch Hunt" through this office at regular price, $2.75.

More Than A Gift!

For the price of a Christmas card you can send a gift subscription for IN FACT to "someone." Plus . . . a striking illustrated colored Christmas card.
